Furniture That Fits®

Inspiration Happens Here

This is the place to fall in love with books, open our minds to new possibilities, work together to find solutions, and think for ourselves. Here, we can take our learning to the next level, connecting classroom lessons to the world outside. And for each way of learning, there is a space for learners, educators, and resources to come together.

Today's libraries and media centers are the go-to learning commons, where students can find flexible spaces to collaborate with peers, as well as comfortable spots for independent study, research, and creativity. With Virco, America's leading manufacturer and supplier of school furniture and equipment, you can create a library or media center that meets the needs of every curious mind.
